Introduction and Background

The agency is proposing changes to clarify management and staffing requirements for licensed adult care and family care home facilities. In addition, technical changes are proposed to clarify rule language and to meet current style standards. Note that the proposed changes resulted in a shift in the rule titles and numbers to allow for easier reading and to improve comprehension. The current rules as written are complex and difficult for providers and the public to understand staffing requirements and include a variety of scenarios and requirements based on size and/or census of the facility. Technical changes had been made to remove requirements based on capacity or census to using only the census to determine management and staffing requirements. The proposed language reorganizes the rules to delineate management responsibilities from management and staffing requirements.

Under the authority of G.S. 150B-21.3A, Periodic review of existing rules, the North Carolina Medical Care Commission and Rules Review Commission approved the Subchapter reports with classifications for the rules under 10A NCAC 13F Licensing of Adult Care Homes of Seven or More Beds and 10 NCAC 13G Licensing of Family Care Homes. The rules were classified in the reports as necessary with substantive public interest. Rules 10A NCAC 13F .0402, 13F .0601, 13F .0603, 13F .0604, 13F .0605, 13F .0606, 13G .0601 are being presented for re-adoption with substantive changes. Rules 10A NCAC 13F .0102, 13F .0408, 13F .0607, 13F .0608, 13F .0609, 13G .0102 are being adopted. Rule 13F .0404 and 13G .0404 has been amended for clarity and it doesn't affect the fiscal analysis, these rules were part of the fiscal analysis in the package for the Phase 3 re-adoption rules.

Rule Changes and Anticipated Fiscal Impact

10A NCAC 13F .0102 List of Definitions: These rules are being adopted to clarify terms used throughout the adult and family care home rules. Adopting these rules helps define words and phrases commonly used throughout the Subchapter. Adopting these new rules with definitions also addresses the Rules Review Commission's request to clarify terms.

10A NCAC 13F .0402 Qualifications of Manager: This rule outlines the qualification requirements of a manager, formerly referred to as the "administrator in charge."

1. The rule is currently written to outline the qualifications of an administrator-in-charge. The proposed language removes the position title of "administrator-in-charge" and changes the term to "manager" for clarity. Adult care home administrators are certified and are responsible for total operation of the facility. Administrators are required to meet the provisions of G.S. 90, Article 20A. Specific qualifications to become certified include the equivalent of two years of coursework at an accredited college or university or supervisory experience in a licensed adult care home or licensed nursing home, and completion of a Department approved administrator-in-training program of at least 120 hours of study in courses relating to assisted living residences. According to G.S. 131D-2.1 the administrator is a person approved by the Department and has the responsibility for the total operation of a licensed adult care home. Administrators' certification qualifications equip them with the knowledge of adult care regulations and training to direct and ensure compliance.

A manager is responsible for the operations of the facility in the absence of the administrator; however, they will serve under the direction and supervision of the administrator. Since the statute is clear, the responsibilities of the administrator cannot be assigned to another person who is not the administrator.

Using the term “manager,” makes it clear to providers and their staff, residents and their families, and the public that the administrator is the person responsible for the operations and the manager is in charge in their absence.

2. The rule is currently written to allow the manager to meet a minimum educational requirement of either a high school diploma, certification under the GED program or passing an alternative examination established by the department.

The agency proposes to remove the alternative examination option for meeting minimum education requirements, allowing a manager to have either a high school diploma or GED.

Review of the data provided by the NC Division of Health Service Regulation, Health Care Personnel Education and Credentialing Section, reveals the total number of test takers for the alternative exam from July 2021-June 2022 was 27. In the past, staff have reported that test takers had already met the other qualifications (high school diploma or GED) and did not have to take the test to be qualified. Taking this test did not provide the test takers with any advantage over those who met the other manager requirements. Due to the demonstrated lack of demand and need for the alternative examination, the elimination of this qualification option should have minimal, if any, impact on prospective managers. It should be noted that individuals who passed the alternative exam and were hired prior to September 1, 2024 will not be required to complete any further testing to qualify to work in this role.

There could be a potential benefit in the form of time savings to the Health Care Personnel Education and Credentialing Section from not having to administer the alternative examination. The alternative exam is offered in-person. The agency would not need to spend funds on printing test materials or use funds to have staff administer the exam.

3. In Item (4), the rule was revised to update language for continuing education topics to now specify that it includes topics related to the elderly and individuals with physical, intellectual, or developmental disabilities, cognitive impairment, and mental illness. By providing more specificity in the rule, facility staff may be more likely to consider an increased variety of courses that relate to the current needs of residents.

10A NCAC 13F .0408 Qualifications of Personal Care Aide Supervisor: This rule outlines the qualification requirements of a personal care aide supervisor. The requirements and qualifications listed in this rule are currently found in Rule 13F .0605. The rule language is proposed to be moved to this new rule for clarity.

1. The current requirements include a minimum educational requirement of either a high school diploma, certification under the GED program or passing an alternative examination established by the department. The agency proposes to remove the alternative examination option for meeting minimum education requirements, allowing a personal care aide supervisor to have either a high school diploma or GED.

As with Rule .0402, the elimination of this qualification option should have minimal, if any, impact to prospective personal care aide supervisors due to the demonstrated lack of demand for the alternative examination. It should be noted that individuals who passed the alternative exam and were hired prior to September 1, 2024, will not be required to complete any further testing to qualify to work in this role.

2. In Item (6) the rule was revised to update language for continuing education topics to now specify that it includes the elderly and individuals with physical, intellectual, or developmental disabilities, cognitive impairment, and mental illness. By providing more specificity in the rule, facility staff may be more likely to consider an increased variety of courses that relate to the current needs of residents.

10A NCAC 13F .0601 Management of Facilities- General Administrator and Manager Responsibilities:

Proposed changes seek to delineate and define adult care home administrator and manager responsibilities. The proposed rule language clarifies specific responsibilities and involvement in Paragraph (c) which include the investigation and reporting of resident abuse, neglect, exploitation, drug diversion, elopement, missing residents, incidents involving hospitalizations or death, and clarifies that the administrator shall be aware of requirements in Paragraphs (d) and (e) which include when staffing requirements cannot be met and any time the facility seeks the assistance of local law enforcement. Under existing rules, the administrator is already responsible for the total operation of the facility. As such, the responsibilities listed in the proposed changes are already required of them. The language in the proposed rule will, however, provide additional clarity by listing them out. For example, the current rules do not specify how the administrator is to be involved when specific allegations and reporting are required.

Administrators are required to meet the provisions of G.S. 90, Article 20A. Specific qualifications to become certified include the equivalent of two years of coursework at an accredited college or university or supervisory experience in a licensed adult care home or licensed nursing home, and completion of a Department approved administrator-in-training program of at least 120 hours of study in courses relating to assisted living residences. The required training and education requirements equip administrators with the knowledge of regulations and requirements to properly respond and guide staff on how to handle situations and comply with rules when incidents occur.

According to G.S. 131D-2.1, the administrator has the responsibility for the total operation of a licensed adult care home. The categories listed in Paragraphs (c) through (e) have a direct impact on resident health and safety, even staff health and safety sometimes as these situations can be stressful and complex. Staff working in adult care homes are often unlicensed and not equipped to handle serious situations on their own without guidance from supervisors, and they may not be knowledgeable of the requirements for handling and reporting such incidents and when follow-up is needed or required.

Additionally, according to current regulations, administrators are not required to be on-site in the facility unless the facility has a census of 81 or more residents. This means that administrators are often not in the building (sometimes rarely), may live far away from the facility's location, and may also serve as the administrator of more than one adult care home at a time. Oftentimes, when the state regulatory agency cites violations related to the categories listed in this proposed rule, the findings show administrators were not aware of the situations, and the facility's staff were unsure of how to respond or failed to respond in accordance with regulations when these serious events occur. Adding the requirements in Paragraphs (c), through (e) helps to ensure administrators are knowledgeable of and involved in situations that can and do have a serious impact on the health and safety of residents (and sometimes staff, too). This will enable them to provide direction and guidance to their staff and put systems in place to ensure compliance and safety.

The proposed language is clearer and more specific and should result in improved awareness and communication among facility staff and management. These changes should ultimately improve the health, safety, and well-being of adult care home residents as well as a facility's compliance with regulations.

There are no additional costs to implement the proposed changes as administrators already have responsibility for the total operation of a licensed adult care home under existing rules, and therefore, should be knowledgeable of and involved in the handling of these types of situations, even if it is just providing direction and oversight of staff's implementation of the requirements.

10A NCAC 13F .0602 Management of Facilities with a Census of Seven to Thirty Residents: This rule and title have been updated to address the required management responsibilities for facilities with a census of 7 to 30 residents. The proposed language was previously found in Rule 13F .0601; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to accommodate rule language for general administrator responsibilities. There are no changes to the requirements for facilities with a census of 7 to 30. The agency has proposed an updated definition for "a cluster of licensed facilities" to provide clarity.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0603 Management of Facilities with a Census of 31 to 80 Residents: This rule and title have been updated to address the required management responsibilities for facilities with a census of 31 to 80 residents. The proposed language was previously found in Rule 13F .0602; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to accommodate rule language for general administrator responsibilities. There are no changes to the requirements for facilities with a census of 31 to 80.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0604 Management of Facilities with a Census of 81 or More Residents: This rule and title have been updated to address the required management responsibilities for facilities with a census of 81 or more residents. The proposed language was previously found in Rule 13F .0603; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to accommodate rule language for general administrator responsibilities. There are no changes to the requirements for facilities with a census of 81 or more. The proposed language in Paragraph (a) clarifies that facilities on a contiguous parcel of land or campus setting shall be under the same ownership.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0605 General Staffing Requirements for Adult Care Homes: This rule and title have been updated to address general staffing requirements for all adult care homes regardless of the facility's census. The proposed language is currently found in Rule 13F .0604; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to accommodate rule language for general staffing requirements. Paragraph (d) clarifies what information that shall be posted daily according to G.S. 131D-4.3(a)(5). The proposed rule language clarifies that the contact information of the administrator and manager shall also be posted daily to ensure residents and families are aware of who they need to contact if they have concerns or issues.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0606 Staffing for Facilities with a Census of Seven to Twelve Residents: This rule and title have been updated to address staffing requirements for facilities with a census of 7 to 12 residents. The proposed language is currently found in Rule 13F .0604; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to allow for easier reading and to improve comprehension of the requirements.

The proposed rule language also clarifies that staff shall always be awake to care for residents who are disoriented or known to have wandering behavior. Residents who are disoriented or known to wander are at risk of falls, elopement, or serious injury, therefore these residents need a higher level of supervision. The proposed changes align with Rule .0901(b) which requires residents to be supervised according to their needs. In the case of disoriented or wandering residents, their needs include 24-hour supervision. As such, the proposed changes do not result in any changes to existing requirements. If there is confusion over the existing requirement for 24 hour a day supervision for residents with disorientation or wandering, the additional clarity provided by the proposed change could reduce the potential for negative outcomes due to the lack of supervision related to residents who have cognitive impairment.

10A NCAC 13F .0607 Staffing for Facilities with A Census of 13 to 20 Residents: This rule and title have been updated to address staffing requirements for facilities with a census of 13 to 20 residents. The proposed language is currently found in Rule 13F .0604; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to allow for easier reading and to improve comprehension of the requirements.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0608 Staffing for Facilities with A Census of 21 or More Residents: A new rule number was created to address staffing requirements for facilities with a census of 21 or more residents. The proposed language is currently found in Rule 13F .0604; however, rule titles and numbers were shifted to allow for easier reading and to improve comprehension of the requirements. The proposed language has also been clarified to specify the required aide duty hours for each shift and census. These changes were made in response to comments received from the North Carolina Rules Review Commission.

Fiscal Impact: None

10A NCAC 13F .0609 Personal Care Aide Supervisors: This rule outlines the duties of a personal care aide supervisor. The requirements listed in this rule currently exist in Rule 13F .0605. There are no changes and no new requirements for personal care aide supervisors. A new rule number was created to allow for easier reading to improve comprehension of the requirements.

10A NCAC 13G .0601 Management and Other Staff: This rule defines management and staffing requirements for licensed family care home facilities. The proposed rule language outlines and clarifies specific management responsibilities and administrator involvement. Technical changes were also made to this rule to be consistent with current writing styles. Revisions were also made to update the requirements for facilities that utilize relief staff persons.

1. Proposed changes seek to delineate and define family care home administrator and supervisor-in-charge responsibilities. The proposed rule language clarifies specific responsibilities and involvement in Paragraph (b) which include the investigation and reporting of resident abuse, neglect, exploitation, drug diversion, elopement, missing residents, incidents involving hospitalizations or death and clarifies that the administrator shall be aware of requirements in Paragraphs (c) and (d) which include when staffing requirements cannot be met and any time the facility seeks the assistance of local law enforcement. The administrator is responsible for the management and total operation of the facility. As such, the responsibilities listed in the proposed changes are already required of the administrator. The language in the proposed rule will, however, provide additional clarity by listing them out. For example, the current rules do not specify how the administrator and supervisor-in-charge are to be involved when specific allegations and reporting are required.

Administrators are approved by the department pursuant to 10A NCAC 13G .1501. Specific qualifications to obtain approval include completion of an approved administrator-in-training program of a minimum of 20 hours of instruction in N.C. Assisted Living laws and statutes, human resources, business management, and a minimum of 100 hours of on-the job training in an assisted living facility. The required training requirements equip administrators with the knowledge of regulations and requirements to properly respond and guide staff on how to handle situations and comply with rules when incidents occur. According to G.S. 131D-2.1, the administrator has the responsibility for the total operation of a licensed adult care home. The categories listed in Paragraphs (b) through (d) have a direct impact on resident health and safety, even staff health and safety sometimes as these situations can be stressful and complex. Staff working in family care homes are unlicensed, often not equipped to handle serious situations on their own without guidance from supervisors and may not be knowledgeable of the requirements for handling and reporting such incidents and when follow-up is needed or required. Additionally, according to current regulations, administrators are not required to be on-site in the facility. This means that administrators are often not in the building (sometimes rarely), may live far away from the facility's location, and may also serve as the administrator of more than one family care home at a time. Oftentimes when the state regulatory agency cites violations related to the categories listed in this proposed rule, the findings show administrators were not aware of the situations and the facility's staff were unsure of how to respond or failed to respond in accordance with regulations when these serious events occur. Adding the requirements in Paragraphs (b) through (d) helps to ensure administrators are knowledgeable of and involved in situations that can and do have a serious impact on the health and safety of residents (and sometimes staff, too) which will enable them to provide direction and guidance to their staff and put systems in place to ensure compliance and safety.

The proposed language should result in improved awareness and communication among facility staff and management. The proposed language is clearer and more specific. These changes should ultimately improve the health, safety and well-being of family care home residents as well as a facility's compliance with regulations.

There are no additional costs to implement the proposed changes as administrators already have responsibility for the total operation of a licensed adult care home under existing rules, and therefore, should be knowledgeable of and involved in the handling of these types of situations, even if it is just providing direction and oversight of staff's implementation of the requirements.

2. The rule as currently written allows a "relief-person-in-charge" to be responsible for the residents and the facility when the administrator or supervisor-in-charge is absent from the facility due to a non-routine occurrence, and a "relief-supervisor-in-charge" to be present for planned absences.

The current rule requires the relief-person-in-charge to be able to respond to emergencies and be 18 years or older. However, requirements in other family care home rules require each staff person to meet the staff qualifications including for test for tuberculosis (13G .0405), other staff qualifications (13G .0406). The current rules regarding staff orientation, training, competency, and continuing education are outlined in section .0500 of the family care home rules and specifically require staff who perform personal care duties to be trained accordingly. Also, current rules require that there must always be one person on the premises who has completed cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and choking management (13G .0507).

These terms, “relief person in charge” and “relief supervisor in charge,” create confusion and ambiguity related to the roles these staff persons play in a family care home and the qualifications they must meet to ensure the health and safety of the residents in their care. The proposed rule language clarifies the requirements to include a staff person who meets the staff qualification requirements as indicated in the family care home rules. The proposed language seeks to clarify that the staff person in charge is qualified, trained, and is adequately able to supervise the facility to protect the safety and welfare of residents in the absence of the administrator or supervisor-in-charge. Since staff are already required to meet staff qualifications as required in the rules, there is no fiscal impact related to these changes.

Summary

As compared to the existing regulatory baseline, none of the proposed changes will result in a significant cost to the regulated community, or to state or local government. The improved clarity of the rules -- in particular, for requirements related to administrator responsibilities and communication; 24-hour awake staff for residents who are disoriented or exhibit wandering behavior; and continuing education topics -- should result in improved compliance with the adult care and family care home regulations. This should, in turn, result in improvements to the overall quality of care for the residents, as well as their safety.

The proposed changes are likely to result in minimal time savings for the Health Care Personnel Education and Credentialing Section from the elimination of the alternative examination option. The agency does not anticipate any additional impact on state government or local government (county Departments of Social Services who monitor and conduct complaint investigations in adult care homes and family care homes) beyond their current job requirements to implement, monitor, and enforce the adult care home and family care home regulations.
